

The diagram illustrates a right-angled triangle with a vertical side of length 1 and a horizontal side of length 1. A diagonal line segment connects the top-left vertex to the bottom-right vertex. A vertical line segment is drawn from the top-left vertex down to the horizontal side, and a horizontal line segment is drawn from the bottom-right vertex left to the vertical side, meeting at a point on the diagonal.